TECHNOPOLIS TRENDS ACROSS THE GLOBE

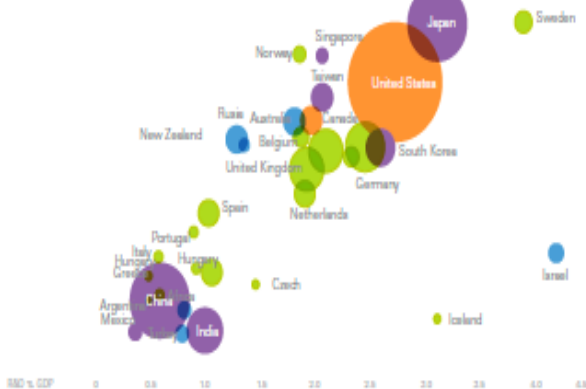

RESEARCH & DEVELOPMENT ACROSS THE GLOBE

R&D is a promising industry, its role as a tool of innovation remains that can be applied in a product or process. Research and development (R&D) is recognized as an important contributor to both business innovation and labor productivity growth.

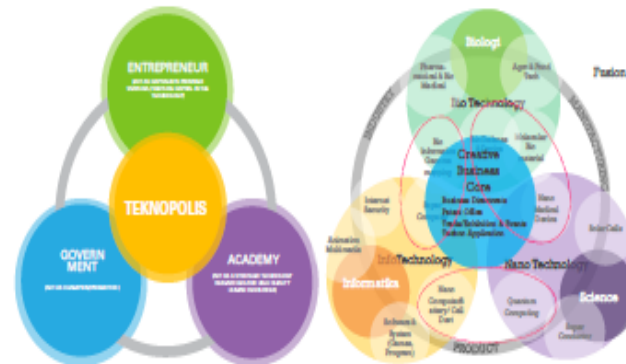

R&D expenditure increases the scope of measured GDP in the national accounts. Hence, several countries in the world have made the world R&D as one of the contributor to their GDP.

The government also invested significantly in the sector. However, whether it will lead to an increase in GDP growth or labor productivity growth depends both on the size of these R&D investments and the growth relation to other components of GDP.
